

Les Bois Spring Classic 2021 Judges

Clayton Schram grew up in Sealy Texas where he showed multiple different species while helping his family with their commercial cattle. This sparked his interest in showing, which led him down the path of 4H and FFA. He now raises both show pigs and purebred brangus back home. After high school he went on to be active on extremely competitive judging teams at both Blinn College and Texas A&M. He now continues to pursue his passion for livestock evaluation through judging shows all throughout the country, as well as the Calgary Stampede in Canada. Schram is currently not only one of the judging coaches at Blinn College, but he is also the outside salesman for Cox Concrete Products.

HC Neel grew up on a large-scale cow-calf operation on the Gulf Coast of South Texas. Through 4-H and FFA, he and his family competitively exhibited steers across the state as well as being a member of highly competitive livestock judging teams. Upon graduation, he attended Blinn College and Texas A&M University as a member of both nationally recognized Livestock Judging Teams, where he was a Top 10 individual overall and in reasons at multiple national contests. He has served as the Graduate Assistant Livestock Judging Coach at Texas A&M University and is currently finishing a Master of Agriculture in Animal Science. Currently, he is the assistant Livestock Judging Coach at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M in Miami, OK. He plans to continue pursuing a career as a Livestock Judging Coach and educator at the collegiate level. Along with this, he and his family own and operate Neel Livestock, a small cow herd that focuses on raising high quality American and half-blood Brahman show cattle.
